2025 Lunar New Year Tet Parade to Celebrate “Spring of Resiliency”

WESTMINSTER, Calif. – The City of Westminster is hosting its annual Tet Parade on February 1, 2025, celebrating the “Year of the Snake.” The parade festivities feature notable guests and officials, lion dancers, school performers, community organizations, local businesses, a firecracker show, and more.

Held annually for over two decades by the city and various private groups over time, the Tet Parade attracts nearly 20,000 unique visitors to the site, as well as online viewers worldwide, who join in celebrating and honoring the Lunar New Year in the heart of Little Saigon.

“Little Saigon is a reflection of cultural pride, collaboration, and diversity,” said Mayor Chi Charlie Nguyen. “In honoring the 50th anniversary of the Fall of Saigon this year, the Tet Parade celebrates the resiliency of not just the South Vietnamese community, but the entire Westminster community as we enter into a new year.”

The festivities will begin with pre-ceremony entertainment at 8 a.m., followed by the official opening ceremony at 8:30 a.m. The parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. along Bolsa Avenue, starting at Magnolia Street and heading eastbound to Bushard Street. Parade is anticipated to end at 1 p.m.

This year’s parade announcers are Emmy award-winning journalist and former television news anchor Leyna Nguyen; Dr. Tam Nguyen, President of Advance Beauty College and local philanthropist; and Dr. Cao Minh Hung, singer and radio and television personality.
